EXPANSION DRIVE OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ON JUNE 12, 13 AND 14

Meeting of Team Captains This Evening and Dinner Free to All June 11 at Elks' Club With Nationally Known Speaker—Three Luncheon Meetings.

The annual Chamber of Commerce Membership Expansion Drive will be held on June 12, 13th, and 14th.

President Burns has called those who will act as team captains to meet at the chamber rooms this evening.

The teams are out to make a new record that will surpass all previous membership drives. In order to make the work easier for the teams the chamber is taking it for granted that those who have been loyal to the chamber in years passed are going to remain so and they will be billed accordingly. This will leave the workers only new members to strive for.

On Monday evening, June 11, the chamber will hold a dinner meeting at the Elks' Club which is open to all who desire to attend. The dinner will be free, the only requirement being that tickets be obtained at the chamber office before Saturday noon, June 9.

The speaker for the evening will be Edward F. Trefz of New York, who was formerly with the United States Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Trefz, secretary of the Merchant's Association of New York, recommends Mr. Trefz as one of the finest speakers, with a real message, that has ever appeared before this organization.

The teams will hold luncheon meetings at the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. On Wednesday, the meeting will be held in conjunction with the Rotary Club meeting and Roy S. Smith, secretary of the Albany Chamber of Commerce, will be the speaker. Thursday's meeting will be with the Kiwanis Club and Alan C. Madden, secretary of the Middletown Chamber of Commerce, is coming over to tell about some of the accomplishments of that chamber.

ERNEST V. BOSS ELECTROCUTED

Operator in Charge of Sub-Station of Electric Company Found Dead by Policeman Shoemaker, Who Had Been Sent to Investigate Why Lights Were Out.

Police headquarters was plunged in darkness about 1 o'clock this morning and Sergeant William F. Hanley, in charge, called up the Kingston Gas & Electric Company's sub-station on Jansen avenue, just below the city hall, on the telephone to ascertain when the lights would be resumed. Receiving no answer he sent Policeman Shoemaker to the plant who found Ernest V. Boss, the operator in charge, lying on the floor dead.

Policeman Shoemaker immediately notified Sergeant Hanley who sent a hurry call to Dr. F. D. Quinlan, who lives but a short distance from the city hall on Broadway. Dr. Quinlan pronounced the man dead. Sergeant Hanley also got in touch with the dead man's son, George Boss, also an employee of the electric company, and notified Coroner W. N. Conner. The sergeant also notified Superintendent Harvey G. Wright of the electric company.

From indications at the scene of the tragedy, it is evident according to Superintendent Wright that Mr. Boss had been busy oiling the switches, which had become sticky, and had been called to another part of the plant to perform some duty. On returning he had evidently forgotten to open the oil switch de-energizing the disconnecting switch for the trolley road's transformers, and received the entire current of 13,200 volts through the body, killing him instantly.

The only mark on the dead man's body was a slight burn on the tip of the index finger of the right hand. The current had entered his body through the finger and passed down to the concrete floor. On the floor were visible the prints of the nails in the dead man's shoes.

Mr. Boss, who was in his 62nd year, had been employed by the company for the past thirty years, and was thoroughly familiar with the duties of operator at the sub-station.

Besides his wife, Frances Gage Boss, he is survived by four sons, George, Ernest, Francis and Raymond, and one daughter, Mrs. Barbara Sanford.

The funeral will be held privately from the late residence, No. 21 Staples street, Thursday afternoon. Interment in the family plot in Willow Cemetery. Friends wishing to view the remains may do so Wednesday afternoon and evening.

POLICE COURT WAS BUSY MONDAY

Four Calls to Murray Street By Police Resulted in Three Arrests—Several Drunks and Some Automobile Violators Arrested.

Four hurry calls to Murray street on Sunday at various intervals during the day resulted in the arrests of Mr. and Mrs. George Mead and Irving Snyder, all on charges of disorderly conduct. The rumpus was staged at No. 45 Murray street.

Sunday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock Officer Urban Healey arrested George Mead, white, and Irving Snyder, a negro, charging both with disturbing the peace. It is claimed that Irving threatened "to get Mrs. Clair's" neighbor.

Mrs. Mead, a negro, the wife of George, was arrested Sunday evening by Officer Bob Healey who said she was drunk and leaning out of her window swearing at pedestrians on the street.

Monday morning in police court the trio were represented by Attorney Chris J. Flanagan, while Attorney Thomas F. Connelley appeared for Mrs. Clair. An adjournment was taken to Wednesday morning and the bonds furnished Sunday for their appearance in court today were continued.

Lawson Bird, a negro, threw a brick at a post, he said, but his aim was poor and he struck James Robinson, another negro on the head. Officers Healey, Entrott and Burger were hurried to the scene and found Robinson nursing a cut over one eye. He had it dressed at the Kingston City Hospital. The officers placed Bird under arrest.

Monday morning Bird explained to Judge Schirick that they were only fooling and he had not meant to hit Robinson. His poor aim cost Bird a $10 fine.

William Truman of Suffern, arrested by Officer Hinkley for cutting a traffic standard, forfeited a $10 cash bail.

Robert E. Larendon of New York city, arrested for speeding Sunday by Officer Kuehn, forfeited $15 cash bail by failure to appear Monday.

Cash bails for speeders have been raised from $10 to $15 within the past day or so.

Burt Smith, a negro employed at the City Hotel, was found drunk at Broadway and Railroad avenue Sunday evening. He was arrested by Officer Murphy. This morning he contributed $5 to the city treasury.

Frank Fitzpatrick was arrested Saturday night by Officer Aley who found him drunk on Mill street. As this was Frank's second offense he was fined $10.

LIGHTNING BLEW OUT MANY FUSES

The series of storms which swept over this city on Monday afternoon and evening raised havoc with both the telephone and electric lines throughout the city and caused both the New York Telephone Company and the Gas and Electric Company considerable trouble.

The telephone company reported this morning that approximately 50 lines and 30 stations were out of order as a result of the storm. Most of the damage was caused by branches falling down on wires due to the severe lightning and wind. The company has just cleared up the cable trouble caused by the storm on Sunday. It is expected that most of the lines and stations put out of order by Monday's storm will be in working order again by Wednesday night.

The electric current in the city came on and off at intervals Monday from 1:30 in the afternoon until midnight. The interruption of this service was due to the fact that the lightning blew out the primary fuses all over the city and in the neighboring villages. It was reported that an electric light pole was struck on Orchard street.

County court was convened Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock with County Judge Joseph M. Fowler presiding. A day calendar was made up consisting of two cases and court went into recess until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Under the circumstances the case was passed.

SALE FOR BLIND WELL ATTENDED

Early Monday morning the store at No. 776 Broadway was a busy scene, when several of the women of the Reformed Churches assisted Mrs. Thomas Hayes, store chairman, in getting ready for sale the articles made by the blind of the state. Throughout the day and evening the sale was splendidly patronized as was the food sale by the ladies of the Reformed Churches, this food sale being held for the benefit of the "Minnie Houghtaling Fund," to aid this blind Kingston woman and make it possible for her to remain in the Home for Incurables.

All of the articles for sale are beautifully made, and remarkably reasonable as to price. The kiddies and babies clothes and toys are particularly appealing. Taken at random, here are a few of the articles one may buy at this sale:

Aprons, Turkish towels and face cloths, glass and dish towels, ladies' nightdresses, ladies' underwear, babies' bibs, boudoir caps, centerpieces and dollies, children's aprons and dresses, rompers and overalls, Colonial rugs, crocheted flowers, chair caning, dress covers, garden baskets and garden pads, house dresses, ironing board covers and holders, knitting bag and animals, pillow tops, rag dolls and animals, runners and scarfs, scrap baskets, shoe bags, bead chains and novelties, opera and party bags in silk, gold, and silver, hearts and whisk brooms.

Paul Perlman, Paul Gregory and Kenneth Davis were the detectives from Scotland Yard. All did good acting, but without a doubt Perlman's brogue was the chief attraction.

Poor Sportsmanship, If Any, Was on Part of Member of Kingston High School Tennis Team Which Was Defeated.

Kingston, N. Y., June 4, 1923.
Editor, The Freeman:

Kindly allow me these few words in defense of St. Stephen's College, the student body of the college, the alumni of Kingston High School and the present students of the high school who have been insulted by the insufferable sill of one member of the Varsity tennis team.

There is a Judas in the camp who is betraying, denying the most cherished of all traditions of Kingston High School—that its athletes be sportsmen. This is an unpardonable sin against the alumni, against those who have built up its reputation. Has the time come when an alumnus of Kingston High School shall be ashamed to reveal his Alma Mater?

Has the time come when the athletes of Kingston High School will only acknowledge defeat in the most childish manner of abetting, instead of standing up like true men, confessing that they have been beaten by a better team?

No, the time shall never come for the above to pass, for there are still too many in the school who value its welfare more highly than that.

That which has not been true in the past shall not become an animated hypothesis now. Either we will see the teams of our Alma Mater victorious or we will see them generous in defeat.

The real issue which I attack is that a defeated Kingston High School team has come away from St. Stephen's apparently satisfied with the treatment accorded them at least they said so at Annandale. Upon returning home the evident sincerity of the majority of the team was falsified by a statement made by one member of the team.

It has been implied and the press is not to blame for the infantile reports of a credulous reporter who accepts everything without first having investigated the case that a team representing the class of 1923, St. Stephen's College, was supported by a jeering, hooting rabble of irresponsible, unsportsmanlike ruffians. To me this is a most unique bit of humor. As a humorous piece of nonsense it is all right and quite safe, for I know the source of its origin, but to the public who has no other source of information it has a decidedly different aspect.

Considered from this point of view the implication is serious. Furthermore, I wish to state that upon the part of the one who made it that it was a carefully planned, for he who has, at the present time, the grievance "they lost and unsportsmanlike treatment under the circumstances" "they were to receive a letter" "St. Stephen's will not accept of the game." Why did it not air his grievance there?

During the team's stay at Annandale the boys were offered dinner. They were taken to student rooms to sleep. They were supplied with shower baths. Members of the faculty came to their dressing rooms to meet them, and to compliment them upon their fine playing. Following the matches, I regret to say that a brass band was not available for the disappointed one.

A tennis gallery is a queer thing, in that it appreciates a joke. If one takes unto himself each jocund outburst, when something humorous occurs, as an insult it merely proves that he has not yet come to a thorough self-appreciation.

Last autumn the members of the St. Stephen's second football team were grossly insulted. This report has not come to me alone from the members of the team, but has been confirmed by outraged supporters of Kingston High School, who revolted against such imprudence. However, nothing was inserted in the papers about this. The St. Stephen's College seconds lost to Kingston High School 6-0, they admitted their defeat, they chafed inwardly under the treatment, they did not alibi. They were gentlemen.

Two weeks ago the St. Stephen's College freshman team played a draw match with Kingston High School. At one stage of the match the gallery became so tantalizing to the visitors that Coach Wilson, of St. Stephen's College, was forced to stop the play in order to request the spectators to be a bit more courteous. Did we write an article for the paper denouncing the affair? Indeed not instead I, myself, inserted an article in the Poughkeepsie Eagle-News merely stating that our men were well received by the Kingston players.

Since alibing only lowers the alibing element in the eyes of real sportsmen I must admit that the "write-up" was an excellent advertisement for St. Stephen's College.

I am sure that the public will bear with me when I state that at no times have St. Stephen's men acted in a manner not befitting gentlemen. Most courteously,

RICHARD O. GRIVVER,

St. Stephen's College.

TAGGING THE SEMI-PRO. BASES

At Watervliet—The Delaware and Hudson Generals won a hard game from the Schenectady Kaycees at Watervliet on Saturday by a 7-6 score. Smith, who started for the Kaycees was hit hard in the second and third innings in which the Generals did all the scoring. A home run by Murray for the Kaycees featured. Benson was in the box for the Generals. There were six three base hits registered during the game.

At East Orange—The Doherty Silk Sox won a one-sided game against the East Orange team by a 14-14 score. E. Raymond and Gaston pitched for the Silk Sox while Dede was on the receiving end.

At Poughkeepsie—The Poughkeepsie Iced Sox lost a well played baseball game to the Wilmington, Long Island, team by a 3-1 score. McDermott, who was in the box for the Red Sox, registered sixteen strike outs and allowed only six hits. The Red Sox made nine hits. The Wilmington team was credited with five errors while the Poughkeepsie team was credited with only two errors.

PITCHER ROMMEL HAS PECULIAR DELIVERY

Athletic Star Discovers That He Has Been Throwing
Finger-Nail Ball.

It's a wise father who knows his own son, and it's a wise pitcher who knows what he is throwing.

Ed Rommel, Philadelphia Athletic star hurler, who turned in 26 wins with the lowly Mackies last season, has always attributed his success to a knuckle-ball delivery. Now Rommel has learned that he has been masquerading under false colors, and that all the time he has been throwing a finger-nail ball past the corners of the platter.

The fact was revealed recently when some photographs taken of Rommel's grip on the ball were examined. The pictures distinctly show that the Philly star marksman grips the ball with his finger nails. Years ago when Ed was pitching them past the bludgeons of International league swatters, a Newark baseball writer, identity unknown, wrote a glowing article about Rommel's knuckle ball.

When Ed entered the American league the reputation stuck with him. Not until this spring did he learn that he was throwing a freak delivery, although even then he has continued to use his knuckles as the ball spins toward the batter.

Extreme powerful fingers enable the slim star to control the sphere, and the peculiar leverage obtained imparts a sharp break as the ball speeds toward the batter.

Joe Bush, Yankee star, gets something the same breaking effect with his "fork ball." Bush holds the old apple between the first and second fingers of his hand and then drives it to the plate. Although this style of pitching is terrible on the arm, Joe manages to get away with it, due to an exceptionally well-developed whip.

Hard to roll your own? Not really. Give yourself a chance to learn, this way:

Carry a sack of "Bull" in your pocket all the time, as well as your regular cigarettes. Every time you think of smoking a cigarette pull out your sack of "Bull" and try rolling one.

WITH THE FAN AT THE FAIR GROUNDS

From the way things look at the present time the Colonials are not going to have much trouble in obtaining the title of champions of the Central Hudson Valley.

The first of the aspirants to this title came to this city on April 15, namely Red Hook, and they were defeated. Then Jimmy Buckley journeyed across the Hudson twice and he was defeated twice.

Sunday up came J. William Schatz and met the same reception as those teams mentioned above.

The only other team left is the Bridge City Red Sox and according to the Poughkeepsie scribes they are not strong enough as yet to take a fall out of the local team.

And so we must turn to the up state cities and the Mountain League districts for real contenders. So far this season the D. & H. Generals and the Schenectady K. of C. have an edge on the local team.

However now that the local team seems to have forgotten how to make errors, to a considerable extent at least, these teams should find it a rather hard proposition to take another fall out of the clan of Schirck.

Next Saturday and Sunday the local fans will be able to see one of the Mountain League teams in action for the first time this season when Oneonta appears in this city. Both of these games should develop into good contests.

McAuliffe, who has won two games so far for Manager Bridwell, will very likely pitch one of the games against his old team mates.

Sid Ross is certainly a good pitcher when he is in condition and the Colonials need him to say the least.

If the local management lands Owen Carroll, the Holy Cross pitcher, the Colonials will have the strongest pitching staff that has ever been gotten together by any semi-pro team in this section.

Carroll might even be able to keep Lohr, the Doherty Silk Sox star, from hitting home runs.

A pitcher that was offered a $10,000 a year contract by the Pittsburgh National League club ought to be capable of doing something like that.

CVENGROS MAKING GOOD WITH SOX

An article in the sporting department of the Evening Telegram calls attention to the fact that Mike Cvangros, who appeared with the Colonials a number of times last year and who was sent to the bush leagues by McGraw this spring, along with Charley Robertson are the only pitchers who may be classed as winning pitchers on Manager Gleason's staff so far this year. Cvangros has won four out of five games. The only game that he has lost was the fifteen inning battle between his team and the New York Yankees which Mike Ruth broke up with a home run.

Cvangros was recalled by Gleason as soon as McGraw let him go.

RHINEBECK BANK CLERK ARRESTED

Claude B. Lansing, Clerk of the First National Bank of Rhinebeck, Disappears With Arrival of Inspectors.

Claude B. Lansing, fifty-year-old bank clerk, was arrested in Rhinebeck Sunday night by Deputy Sheriff Henry Baum charged with grand larceny for the alleged theft of funds of the First National Bank of Rhinebeck. On complaint of the directors of the bank, Lansing was locked in the county jail in Poughkeepsie on a warrant sworn out by Justice of the Peace Lafayette Miller. The amount of money alleged to have been taken was not divulged.

Bank inspectors arrived at Rhinebeck last Friday to make an inspection and Lansing was missing. When the shortage was discovered Deputy Baum was assigned to the case. Lansing returned on Sunday and was taken into custody. Mr. Lansing has always borne a good reputation in Rhinebeck, according to the authorities. He is a widower and a man of quiet habits.

Astronomy.

In ancient times star lore was handed down from one nation to another. Where it started no one knows, for astronomy was the first groping of man for truth. Symbols for the sun and moon, the earth and planets, the same ones in use today, have been found among the relics of the old Stone Age, where even implements of polished flint were lacking.

POLISH PUPILS ENJOY OUTING

Approximately 115 pupils of the Immaculate Conception parochial school were given an outing on the Polish farms on Linderman avenue by the pastor of the church, the Rev. Fr. J. J. The children were royally treated being supplied with fresh milk, ice cream, soda water and everything else that goes to make things enjoyable on such an outing. The party was taken to and from the scene of the outing by automobiles which were furnished by members of the congregation. The outing lasted from nine o'clock in the morning until seven o'clock in the evening.

The members of the congregation are planning to hold straw-jerry festivals throughout the month of June to which they invite all of their friends.

Right of Way to New Poke Bonnet

Plainest Faces Become Alluring Under Winsome Dropped Brim.

The poke bonnet of today has the right of way in sports wear and dress hats, observes a fashion correspondent in the Kansas City Star. One seldom sees any other shape except a few larger sized mushrooms, which are shown for summer wear, and the cloche shape. The Watteau type hat with the upturned back brim is seen now and then among the dress hats, but one does not use it on the streets.

Trimming decides to which class the poke hat belongs. For sports wear the usual trimming is glazed or silvered quills, ribbon cocardes or huge ribbon velvet bows. Lately one notices a great many of the smartly gowned young girls with small poke hats, almost brimless in the rear, trimmed with large velvet bows which fall over the side of the hat.

The modified poke knows no limit when it comes to trimming and the plainest face becomes alluring under its dapper little dropped brim. Underbrim trimming is perhaps one of the most attractive trims, especially when crushed roses are used or rows of valenciennes lace dyed to match the color of the hat. Often just a band of single rosebuds is placed about the head size to emphasize the underbrim trim.

Citron, soft greens and purples are colors that are shown among the smartest hats. There is a tendency, however, for neutral colored hats, owing to the popularity of the brilliantly colored gowns of today. Putty, ecru, cocoa, brown and cork shades can be worn with almost any colored gown and are accepted among fashionable women.

Whatever else lady has, a silk hat she must have, bright in color, taffeta, faille or similar weaves, close or large, but silk it must be.

Milan straw is without doubt the most fashionable straw for the season. Leghorns will be popular with the younger set and are embroidered on crown and brim in vividly colored chenille flowers. Tumbo straws, hair straws and fancy varicolored straws are popular. Where the varicolored straw is used the trimming usually carries out the varicolored idea with velvet grapes of colors harmonizing with the hat or with hops dyed in shaded tones.

Fireplace Fittings Should Be Artistic

Long years ago the entire life of the home was built about the fireplace. For the humble it provided warmth and was their only means of cooking; for the dwellers in more palatial residences it was the center of both domestic and social life. So the fireplace of today has its significance in the home, and should have fittings as artistic as any other corner of the house.

There is wide choice in screens, grates and fire irons, for they may be had in varied finishes—plain black, bright, rubbed or antique brass, brass and black, antique gray or old English finish, and this variety assures the harmony of fireplace fittings with the other furnishings of the room.

Effective Background for Use of Gay Ribbon

Ribbons, being as symbolic of spring and summer as flowers and fruit, are being combined gracefully on the spring and summer hat. The ever popular, wide-brimmed hats of lattice straw are an effective background for the use of ribbons. Red ribbon may be wound in and out of the interstices, culminating in a bunch of red cherries just at the end of the crown under the brim. Or violet shaded ribbon combined with a cluster of purple grapes is bright and gay for the summer girl.

Felt Hat Promises to Hold Year-Round Favor

The felt hat which formerly disappeared with the winter and returned in the late summer, has achieved a year-round popularity.

It is seen trimmed with flowers and fruit, draped with colorful scarfs or lace or chiffon veils, pepped up with ribbon bows or quaint stickups, or entirely devoid of trimming.

One smart New York hat shop has scarcely featured any but felts and fabric turbans.

FREEMAN ONE-CENT-A-WORD "WANT" ADLETS

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE TURTLE FRIEND

The turtle's name was General and he was a very fine turtle.

Wrapped in a Big Newspaper.

To be sure, he was not much admired for his beauty but his master thought he was handsome and that was all that really mattered.

Now one day his master was hurt and an ambulance came rushing along to take the master to the hospital where he was to be treated and made well once more.

The turtle's master did not want to get into the ambulance.

"But you'll be well so quickly and then you'll be back home again," said the doctor.

But the master cried and the doctor began to tell him what a nice place the hospital was and how soon he would be well.

Still the turtle's master cried, and between his sobs he seemed to be speaking, but no one could understand him.

"We must hurry," said the doctor, and the master cried still harder.

"You'll be home before you know it," said the doctor. "You are hurt and in pain and so you're crying now but you'll be very gentle with you and you'll be well so quickly, and the horrible old pains will go."

"But still the boy cried bitterly and as they were lifting him into the ambulance the doctor understood what he was saying.

"I want my turtle, I want my turtle," were the words of the boy.

"I want General," he sobbed. "Oh, I want General. General will understand."

"General?" asked the doctor. "Your turtle?"

"Oh," said the boy's mother, "he means he wants his turtle. The turtle's name is General. And the turtle is his devoted pet."

"Well, we'll take the turtle along, too," said the doctor.

And suddenly the boy stopped crying.

"Oh," he said quite clearly, "then I don't mind going at all."

Well, his mother went for General and General was wrapped in a big newspaper and was put into the ambulance, too, and they all went off for the hospital, the boy and the turtle and the doctor.

It was the first time a turtle had ever been in the hospital and every one was much excited about the new patient.

The doctor explained that there was nothing the matter with the turtle but that he had come along to comfort his master.

"He'll make me get well quickly," said the boy. And so the hospital people called General the Trained Nurse Turtle, for he was helping a patient get well.

General had a little bathtub kind of a home brought for him and General did not seem to mind the hospital at all.

In fact he seemed quite happy. At times he would be allowed upon his master's bed and his master would pet his young, hard back and would say:

"General, my General. You wouldn't desert me, would you?"

"You're the right kind of a General. You'll never desert."

Now the boy had owned the turtle for eight years—ever since the boy had been a baby boy, hardly able to walk.

Well, the boy did seem to get well so much more quickly with General beside him.

And all the other boys and girls and men and women in the hospital heard about General and those who were able were wheeled into the room where the boy was, or hobbled in, and admired the turtle friend.

And every time General would be very polite but the boy would boast of his wonderful friend.

"General is looking after me," he always said so proudly.

Before the boy left the hospital he took General around with him and called on all the other patients and General did them a lot of good, too!

Yes, he certainly did cheer them up, and yet General was so modest about it all.

At last the boy and General went home and it was nice to be back where there was lots of space, but it was nicer still to think that they were back home sooner because the dear turtle friend had helped so much in hurrying to make the boy well!

A small bottle of glycerin is an excellent thing to keep in every store cupboard, as it is invaluable for removing tea and coffee stains from linen. Brush a little glycerin over the stain as soon as possible after it is made, and it will come out in the wash without any trouble.

WHAT TO EAT

A French pancake makes a pleasant change from the ordinary griddle cake.

Cook them as usual and spread with jam, roll up, sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve hot.

Filling for Raisin Pie.—Take one cupful of water, one-half cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of butter, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of salt, one and one-half cupfuls of seedless raisins, one tablespoonful of flour mixed with a little water. Cook the raisins in the water for fifteen minutes, add the sugar and flour paste and cook six minutes longer, take from the heat and add the butter and salt. Cool slightly before putting into the baked shell.

Mock Chicken Salad.—To one cupful of diced cooked veal add one-half cupful of diced celery and the same of cooked carrots. Add a tablespoonful of gelatin to one cupful of veal stock, one-half cupful of vinegar and one-half cupful of water. Dissolve the gelatin in a little cold water before adding to the above. Put into a mold when beginning to set, add the meat and vegetables. Mix well and put on ice to cool. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise dressing.

Celery Cocktail.—Take one cupful of minced celery, one tablespoonful of minced chives, three tablespoonfuls of minced green peppers, twelve olives chopped fine, salt, pepper and mayonnaise to moisten. Fill halves of green peppers with the ingredients and chill for an hour.

Bran Muffins.—Take one-fourth of a cupful of brown sugar, one-fourth of a cupful of lard, three-fourths of a cupful of milk, one tablespoonful of black molasses, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one and one-half cupfuls of bran, one cupful of flour and three teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Cream the sugar and lard and mix in the order given. Bake in tins in a quick oven. This recipe makes one dozen muffins.

The young, tender carrots will cook without scraping, the skin peeling off easily when cooked. Serve with butter, a dash of cayenne and nutmeg and a bit of lemon juice.

General had a little bathtub kind of a home brought for him and General did not seem to mind the hospital at all.

In fact he seemed quite happy. At times he would be allowed upon his master's bed and his master would pet his young, hard back and would say:

"General, my General. You wouldn't desert me, would you?"

"You're the right kind of a General. You'll never desert."

Now the boy had owned the turtle for eight years—ever since the boy had been a baby boy, hardly able to walk.

Well, the boy did seem to get well so much more quickly with General beside him.

And all the other boys and girls and men and women in the hospital heard about General and those who were able were wheeled into the room where the boy was, or hobbled in, and admired the turtle friend.

And every time General would be very polite but the boy would boast of his wonderful friend.

"General is looking after me," he always said so proudly.

Before the boy left the hospital he took General around with him and called on all the other patients and General did them a lot of good, too!

Yes, he certainly did cheer them up, and yet General was so modest about it all.

At last the boy and General went home and it was nice to be back where there was lots of space, but it was nicer still to think that they were back home sooner because the dear turtle friend had helped so much in hurrying to make the boy well!

A small bottle of glycerin is an excellent thing to keep in every store cupboard, as it is invaluable for removing tea and coffee stains from linen. Brush a little glycerin over the stain as soon as possible after it is made, and it will come out in the wash without any trouble.

THE KING OF STORES

One department store in Chicago occupies an exclusive building having a floor area of about forty-four acres. The space occupied by this building extends from forty-three feet below the street level to more than two hundred feet above the surface of the surrounding streets.

America holds many astounding examples of business enterprise, but this store is an enviable illustration of the great and valuable institutions that can be built up by concentrated and continuous painstaking effort to anticipate requirements and approximate perfection.

Accompanying a guide through this establishment you will hear a spiel something like this: "The main aisle of this store is three-hundred and eighty-five feet long. In normal times more than 9,000 men, women, boys and girls are required to perform the service of maintaining the operation of this great retail establishment. During special sale periods and the holiday season as many as 12,500 names have been on the payroll at one time. About 360 motor trucks and delivery vehicles are in daily operation hauling new stocks of goods from the railway stations, steamship docks and warehouses and delivering the purchases to the myriads of customers in the nearby territory. One of the largest switchboards ever constructed for a single institution is employed to transact the telephone business of this store with its customers. The average number of calls handled per day is in the neighborhood of 30,000. In extra busy times the number of calls has exceeded 50,000 in a single day."

"The basement floor contains more than 170,000 square feet of space and is the largest single-floor store on earth. For the purpose of speeding up the movement of patrons, employees, packages and freight within this store 92 elevators are in service. These elevators carry an average of about 25,000 passengers an hour and run 1,800 miles a day—or the distance from Chicago to New York. The entire seventh floor is divided into large rooms devoted to restaurant purposes; 3,800 persons can be served at one time, making this the largest known dining room. A separate dining room is operated for the officers and employees. All told about two-hundred and fifty cooks and helpers and 500 waitresses are required to handle the throngs which eat here daily. To light, heat, ventilate and operate this enormous store building, power sufficient to furnish light for a city of 100,000 inhabitants is required."

Convenience Outlets

New and handier electric outlets to which may be attached any of the various electric appliances desired the finishing touch to electrical convenience.

If you are about to have your house wired, don't make the mistake of omitting "convenience outlets." In houses already wired, it is a comparatively inexpensive matter to have them installed.

In the kitchen, handy outlets should be provided for the washing machine and the iron. In the dining room, outlets for heating and for table cooking devices. In sleeping rooms, for curling irons, electric vibrators, heating pad and room heater. Convenient outlets in every room are just what you need for getting the best results out of your vacuum cleaner.

COST DOLLAR PER HEAD IN GREENE

According to the Catskill Mail, the cost last year to Greene county of the Mullan-Gage law, which was repealed by the last legislature, is estimated at about $35,000. The population of Greene county is less than 35,000. Greene being one of the smaller counties of the state.

"Locally," says the Mail, "public sentiment" has undoubtedly been strongly in favor of the repeal. Many of our best citizens believe that sobriety in the county has never before been undermined in so many vicious ways as under the conditions which have prevailed for the past two years. It is difficult to see how the repeal of the Mullan-Gage law can make them worse. The repeal does not affect in the least the validity of the Volstead act, but it does impose on the federal government the duty of taking the initiative for the enforcement of the law which congress has made applicable to all the states. This should prove an actual gain for enforcement, as the effort at Washington to shirk responsibility and charge it to state neglect has been in the highest sense unfavorable to popular belief in the sincerity of the enforcement powers."

Greene county's expense of about one dollar per inhabitant for the Mullan-Gage law was due, according to the Mail, to the feature of the law which placed responsibility largely on the shoulders of county officials for detection, arrest and conviction.

Cruel Parents.

A man by the name of Burst had three children: John Woods Burst, Nellie May Burst, and Charles Will Burst. According to the latest census report, all three are living still. Some years ago, an Irish lord married a widow, Mrs. Hogg, whose two children were named Ima and Ura. When the widow's engagement was announced, invitations were extended to a dance at her home. A young nobleman who was dancing with Ima Hogg said with the idea of being entertaining: "The Sow is giving an engagement dance next week; shall I see you there?" "Certainly," replied young Ima. Instantly realizing that the young fellow had no notion as to her identity, "I'm one of the Sow's little piglets!" And the young man in great embarrassment left the dance.

COLLISION ON SAUGERTIES ROAD

Monday night about 10:30 just as the Troopers and Sheriff's men had returned from their trip to East Kingston where they had rounded up two men on a charge of assault, another call was received and they hurried to the Saugerties road just across the West Kingston where an automobile had been taken place. Deputies and Sheriff's men went to the scene where they found two women in a Ford sedan and two men in an Overland car involved in a collision. Pauline Zimerli, of the Zimerli family, and her sister Anna and a nephew, D. Zimerli were north bound on the road. Davis Bornstein, of the Bornstein family, and Ferdinand Bornstein, of the Bornstein family, were south bound toward Kingston. The cars came together on the left side of the road and Mrs. Pauline Zimerli was rendered unconscious. She was carried in the Glen Rose ambulance service where her wounds, which did not appear serious, were dressed. The two men were uninjured. During the excitement a man driving a Ford sedan failed to notice a traffic officer's stop signal and increased speed. One of the troopers fired a shot to scare and gave chase but the Ford sedan was considerably damaged by the collision. Following the accident Mrs. Zimerli complained to severe pains in her limbs and back.

To accuse a college of being a "hot bed for American propaganda" proves to be either deplorably uninformed or wilfully perverting the truth to further your own ends. ISLAM and the
CALIPHATE

Palace of Dolma Baghchah on the Bosphorus.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.) The deposing of the sultan of Turkey, not only from the position of temporal ruler of the Turks but from the far more powerful one of Caliph of Islam, opens an interesting new chapter in the history of Mohammedanism. The step taken by the Turkish Nationalists in stripping the once nominally powerful caliph of his power, and his retirement to Mecca under the wing of the king of Hejaz, might conceivably lead to very interesting developments for politics and religion are inseparable in the Near East, a fact that Western observers, far from the many cross-currents of the region, do not always realize. Some prevalent misconceptions about the Mohammedan faith seem to add confusion to many discussions about the recent developments in Turkey.

The easiest way to dispel some of these illusions is by pointing to several striking likenesses between the world's two newest among the major religions. The term "Mohammedan," like the term "Christian," is a nickname. Both names were given, with contemptuous intent, it is believed, by enemies of the religions.

The term "Christian" was quickly adopted by followers of the Nazarene. The term "Mohammedan" never has been adopted by the followers of the Prophet. He sought to avoid the employment of his own name by supplying one—the name "Islam"—by which he hoped Mohammedanism would be known. He further sought to make this word, meaning resignation, imply the five cardinal points of the new faith. The first of these points was the brief creed, "There is no God but Allah, and Mohammed is his prophet."

The other four enjoined prayer, giving of alms, the fast of Ramadan and pilgrimage to Mecca. Another significant parallel between Christianity and Mohammedanism is that both are the religions of millions of people of races alien to that of their founders. Christ was a Jew; Mohammed was an Arab. It is the Mohammedanism modified by the Turkish temperament and nationality that has clashed with western civilization in recent centuries.

Most misleading of all the illusions about Mohammedanism, however, is the tacit assumption that the Mohammedan world is a religious unit. Seen a long way off, the sects and groups fade away. In reality there are two great branches of Mohammedanism, the Sunnites and the Shites. Among both these branches, and also outside them, there are sharply drawn cleavages.

Sultan Didn't Rule All. Recent caliphs, who have been the sultans of Turkey, have claimed spiritual supremacy over the Mohammedan world of some 300,000,000 souls. But in actual fact the sultan of Turkey had little more spiritual ascendancy over the Mohammedans outside Turkey than the king of England has over the Episcopalians in the United States. In fact there would be no urgent Near East problem at this moment had his leadership been recognized on the other side of the Bosphorus in Asia Minor.

A very important difference between the western mind and the Mohammedan viewpoint has, hitherto, precluded a spiritual ascendancy in Islam which would cut across all lines of temporal power and include even warring nations. The Mohammedan has no priests. Islam is one of the most pragmatic of religions. Heretofore if a caliph did not rule he wasn't a caliph. A spiritual ruler up to now has been incomprehensible to the Moslem mind. And it remains to be seen whether the radical step taken by the Turkish Nationalists in setting up a caliph shorn of temporal power will accomplish a permanent change. Being temporal rulers primarily, caliphs naturally have sought to rule by the sword.

The Mohammedan's religion and his law go hand in hand. Mohammed was a law giver, not only in the Moslem but also in the Jewish sense. There are as many codes of law among Mohammedans as there are sects; and as many kinds of lawyers as there are codes. Among the Sunnites, the orthodox major division of Islam, there are four schools of law. A Hanafite would as soon engage a Malakite lawyer as a Presbyterian congregation would be likely to employ a Unitarian preacher.

The very word "caliph" has an allurement which dates back to childhood days when one lived among those fantastic Arabian nights at the court of Caliph Harun-al-Rashid. Rashid was a bona fide caliph, and in later years a reading of the historical facts about the caliphate furnishes no fewer thrills than the immortal tales.

BURNS PERFORMS
DOUBLE MISSION

Tells Of Menace Of Radicalism As Shown to Government Officials and Presents Usher Boy Scouts With Special Emblem From President Harding.

In his lecture before a large and representative audience at the High School Auditorium on Monday evening, William J. Burns, head of the Bureau of Investigation, Department of Justice, at Washington, sounded an emphatic and insistent warning against radicalism in this country.

The reception committee to meet Mr. Burns, was composed of Mayor Crane, Dr. A. C. Gates, president of the Kiwanis Club, under whose auspices the lecturer came to Kingston; H. H. Flemming, president of the Board of Education; Dr. Kaplan, chairman of the Kiwanis Committee having charge of the evening's program and Mr. Burns's dinner host; Arthur Burns, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Colonel Chandler, head of the State Troopers; Judge Joseph M. Fowler and Roy Sutcliffe.

Those present on the platform at the time of the lecture were Kiwanis President Gates, Dr. Kaplan, Philip Elting, Sergeant Phinney and Mayor Crane.

In opening the meeting, Dr. Gates welcomed the audience in the name of the Kiwanis Club and said that any club was known by the activity of its members. The committee having in charge the entire evening's program had as its chairman Dr. Kaplan, to whom Dr. Gates turned over the meeting.

The lecture was prefaced by selections by a band and mandolin quartet and two vocal solos, each followed by an encore, sung by Mrs. Osterhoudt, accompanied by Miss Burbanck, and by Mrs. Mann, accompanied by Miss Markson.

In introducing Mr. Burns, Dr. Kaplan assured the audience that while the speaker of the evening hated crime, evil and injustice in every form, he did not hate people. His role was really that of a social surgeon, who often found it necessary to operate in order to preserve and maintain the health and wholeness of the body politic.

Dr. Kaplan further stated that before the lecture there was to be a presentation made by Mr. Burns, for President Harding and called Judge Joseph M. Fowler to the platform. Then in behalf of the president of the United States, Mr. Burns presented Judge Fowler with a special emblem for the Boy Scouts of this vicinity, amidst great applause. In accepting the emblem Judge Fowler said that he realized that it was not given to him as an individual but as head of the Boy Scout movement in the town. Judge Fowler was of the opinion that the Boy Scout work was a great work, doing much for the youth of this community making for better citizenship and he deeply appreciated the interest which Chief Burns and President Harding took in the Scout activities here. In behalf of the Boy Scouts, Judge Fowler expressed deep appreciation for the favor granted in that Chief Burns had brought to Kingston, from President Harding, the emblem.

After expressing his pleasure in being in Kingston, and offering his apologies for having to disappoint his friends last week, "Chief" Burns paid a fine compliment to the Kiwanis organization, and told of his long-standing friendship with Dr. Kaplan whom he met in San Francisco during the great fire. Then the speaker got right down to the subject on which he had come to Kingston to talk, the danger of radicalism, which he counts as a great menace to this country today, insinuating and very serious, and which is not understood or realized as it should be by the American people.

In order to let his hearers know what the government is doing to eliminate crime, Mr. Burns told of the reorganization of the Bureau of Investigation, Department of Justice, with its intensive efforts to prevent crime and so reduce it to a minimum. There has been instituted in the bureau a department of investigation, identification and information giving the most minute statistics on crime, to be found. Every book, paper or pamphlet on crime must be found there to aid in the study and prevention of crime. There will also be found there the history, records, photographs and finger prints of every well known criminal of either national or international notoriety.

Mr. Burns is positive that there never was and never can be a successful crime or criminal. He told of several noteworthy cases to prove his statement. Then he showed how the present finger-print system protects the innocent as well as convicts the guilty. The last word in both preventive and curative measures against crime is the radio. With broadcasting stations available practically everywhere, Chief Burns doubted if many of the top criminals of today—and he said he always went for the man at the top rather than a group of underlings—would care to have broadcasted all over the country, even to sheriffs in small towns, to be on the lookout for "No. 162—Name—record—finger-print in code." He thought that none of them would want all this attention.

Mr. Burns considered one reason for so much, so vastly more crime here than in England, the slowness of our justice in action. Justice and real punishment work quickly in England and the entire result is far and away less crime. In speaking of radicalism, the crime of insurrection of revolution against the country, Mr. Burns said that it was difficult in such a peaceable, inland city as Kingston to realize that there actually is menacing and very dangerous radicalism all too prevalent in this land. He gave a brief sketch of Carl Marx and his institution of Sovietism, first in Germany and then in Russia. With the utmost contempt, Mr. Burns told of Leon Trotsky—really Leon Goldstein—who, exiled from Russia where he went from Germany, escaped and came to New York city.

He showed his gratitude to the only country that would give him protection by immediately organizing soviets to overthrow this government. The speaker warned his hearers that the real men and women to fear were not Emma Goldman and her man Friday, Bergman, but the scholars, the professional men, the students of criminology that were being sent into this country, and who because of their keen intellectuality could undermine even the churches and colleges with the poison of their propaganda. Today these Soviets have as their dupes and aids, preachers, professors of colleges and schools, men in the army and navy, even. The plan is to so inculcate their nefarious doctrines into the minds of people that the nucleus of a big army will be formed that at the psychological moment will be ready to take up arms to overthrow our government by revolution. And there is no Federal law to reach such men; state law has to be depended upon for necessary protection. The speaker reminded his hearers that only recently Vice-President Coolidge, in addressing Prudential Insurance men stated that during last year strikes amounting to over $2,000,000, were proven to be due to radical propaganda that has been disseminated during the past five years.

Duke of Orleans

Turmoil in Paris has followed the discovery of an alleged monarchist plot to overthrow the French Republic. Following outrageous perpetrated in the French capital by a secret organization known as "Federation of the King," M. Maunroy, Minister of the Interior, announced in the Chamber of Deputies that proofs were in hand of the activities of a royalist organization, spread throughout France, directed against the life of the republic. The royalists, it was stated, have planned to place Louis Philippe Robert, Duke of Orleans and Pretender to the French crown, upon the throne yielded in 1871 by Napoleon III, with the title of Philip VIII. The Duke is a member of the Bourbon family and is in exile in Belgium.

COLONIALS TO GO ON TRIP

On Thursday and Friday of this week the Colonial baseball team will journey to Utica where they will meet the Utica K. of C. from that place. The Utica team was defeated by the locals at the Fair Grounds a couple of weeks ago but as two of the first string Utica players were not here and as the Colonials will be playing in strange territory it is expected that they will have a little harder nut to crack. All three pitchers will make the trip and it is expected that Terpenning and Russell will also be able to make arrangements to go. Dahn will not be able to go with the team. Ross will take his place in the field. If it develops that Terpenning and Russell cannot go on the trip Manager Brown will get in touch with two other players who will take their place.

On Saturday and Sunday the Oneonta team will be in this city to engage the Colonials. It is expected that Bridwell will use McAllister against his former team mates on Saturday.

There will be no game at the Fair Grounds this Wednesday. Beginning next Wednesday there will be a mid-week game every week and these games will all start promptly at 6:15.
